What Is the 2.7 Litre Vaccine Carrier Used For?

This carrier moves vaccine vials between a refrigerator or cold room and the place where they will be given, such as a village session, a school vaccination day or a mobile clinic. The icepacks go into the carrier first, the vials sit in the storage space, and the lid stays shut as much as possible, because the 46.23-hour figure is measured without any openings.

Holding time drops each time the lid is lifted and when the carrier stands in direct sun, so teams plan their route, keep the carrier shaded and pull out only the vials needed at that moment. District stores ordering through laboratory equipment tenders in India usually size the order to the number of outreach teams, with one carrier per team plus reserves.
