Description :

Seed Identification Kit (Product Code: SLE/EBT/03) is a collection of real tree seeds used to teach students to classify and identify seeds, from nuts and acorns to berries, in school botany lessons. Built for grades 3-12, it pairs 39 carded, labelled and bagged tree seeds with a seed key, a sprouting seed kit and a Teachers' Guide, so it also works as a seed germination kit for school classes. It is supplied by Jain Scientific Equipments Pvt Ltd (ScienceLab), Ambala, as part of its range of biology lab equipment in India.

What Is the Seed Identification Kit Used For?

Seeds vary enormously, and that variety is the lesson. Students compare size, shape, colour and seed coat, then look for adaptations for dispersal: hard shells that animals carry and bury, fleshy berries that are eaten, or wings and hooks that catch the wind or fur. Working through the seed key, they narrow each specimen down to its tree, and the labels on the cards let them check their own answers.

The sprouting seed kit takes the class from identification to life cycle. Students set up seeds to germinate, record when the root and shoot appear, and connect what they see to the seed parts studied earlier. The Teachers' Guide suggests hands-on activities for different ages, so one kit can serve a primary nature lesson and a senior plant biology practical alike. Return specimens to their bags after use so the collection stays complete.
