What Are Red/Blue Sports Tabards Used For?

Tabards let a teacher or coach split a class into two clearly visible teams in seconds, for football, basketball, handball, relay games or small-sided drills. They slip over normal PE kit and fasten at the sides, so one size covers a wide range of older students, and the open nylon mesh keeps players cool during active play.

Give out one colour per team and collect the tabards by colour at the end, so the pack stays at 10 red and 10 blue. Adjust the side Velcro so each tabard sits close to the body and does not flap during play. Because the mesh is washable, wash the set after use and let it dry fully before storing.

What to Specify When Ordering

- The number of packs (each pack is 20 tabards, 10 red and 10 blue).
- The age group of your players, since this listing is the Large size for age 13+.
- Any matching items, such as whistles, balls or corner flags, to be quoted together.

Supplier

Jain Scientific Equipments Private Limited, trading as ScienceLab, supplies these tabards to schools, sports academies, youth programmes, dealers and importers in India and international markets. As an educational laboratory supplier that also covers physical education, we can combine tabards with other PE items in one quotation. For vendor registration and export paper
