Description :

Slate Pencils White (Product Code: SLE/S/04) are wood-cased slate pencils with a white lead, used by children to write letters, numbers and sums on classroom slates. Early-grade pupils and teachers use them because the white core, about 3 mm thick, shows clearly on a dark slate, and each hexagonal pencil comes sharpened and 170–180 mm long. They are supplied by Jain Scientific Equipments Pvt Ltd (ScienceLab), Ambala, India, with junior lab kits for primary schools and other classroom basics.

What Are White Slate Pencils Used For?

Slates remain a practical, reusable writing surface in many primary classrooms: children practise handwriting, copy words from the board and work through sums, then wipe the slate clean and start again. White slate pencils give the high-contrast mark this needs, and because only the pencil is used up, they help schools save paper for finished work.

The wood casing protects the core and keeps fingers clean, and the hexagonal shape stops pencils rolling off sloping desks. There is no eraser, so pupils clear mistakes with a duster or cloth. Sharpen the casing gently so the 3 mm core is exposed without breaking.
