Description :

Microslide Nutrition (Product Code: SLE/PS/92) is a Microslide of 8 related 35mm images, photographed through a microscope, used to show how a shortage of vitamins and minerals changes body tissues in biology, home science and health education lessons. Each image pairs a nutrient with the tissue it affects, from vitamin A deficiency in the cornea at 200x to iodine deficiency in the thyroid at 400x and iron deficiency in blood at 300x. It is supplied by Jain Scientific Equipments Pvt Ltd (ScienceLab), Ambala, a biology lab equipment supplier in India.

What Is the Microslide Nutrition Used For?

Food and nutrition chapters often present deficiency diseases as a list to memorise. This set shows what those deficiencies do at tissue level, in the cornea, skin, bone, thyroid, heart muscle and blood, which makes the link between diet and health far more concrete for students.

A practical approach is to give each group one nutrient, ask them to find foods rich in it, and then have them present the matching image using its callouts. The set connects naturally with the digestive system topic and with textbook conditions such as rickets, goitre and anaemia, making it a useful aid for health education classes.
