What Is a Replacement Nosepiece Adapter Used For?

The nosepiece is the part of a pipette controller that grips the pipette and seals the air path. With daily use it can stretch, split or become contaminated, and the signs are easy to spot: pipettes wobble or slip out, liquid creeps down after aspiration, or the controller struggles to hold a column steady. Swapping in this adapter brings back a firm, airtight fit without replacing the whole controller.

Keep a spare with every shared controller so a worn part can be changed in minutes rather than halting a practical. When fitting, push the adapter fully home and check that a pipette sits straight before use. Insert pipettes with a gentle twist instead of forcing them at an angle, which prolongs the life of the new nosepiece and avoids cracking glass pipettes.
